paper's Advice to Speaker In an article on the Democratic Presider at candidates, the Washington Sunday Her ald thus speaks of Justice Field, of the United States supreme court, whose name has been entioned in connection with the Democratic ination, and who is believed to entertain the hope the Democracy will make him their national standard-bearer next year:
"Respecting Justice Field's ability to make a good race, if he is entered for the grand sweepstakes, opinions differ. If nominated he will be fiercely assailed upon various grounds. He will be charged, wro no doubt, with being too good a friend New Idria mining company, and of rome
